

CEMPROC

Representative List of Past CEMPROC Intern Projects

A sampling of past internship projects and tasks have included:

- Contributing content to CEMPROC's Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter, and YouTube pages, including active expansion of online participation and engagement with our programs
- Participating as an observer/documentarian, and then as a co-trainer, in workshops that form part of CEMPROC's Crecer en Paz program to form Peace Promoters in schools
- Developing, filming, editing, and producing 'mini-documentary' videos on specific topics like Environmental Conflict Resolution in Ecuador or the political voice of Afro-Ecuadorians in the new Constitution (<https://www.youtube.com/user/CEMPROC>)
- Conducting workshops, involving teaching, games, songs and simulations, on conflict resolution for children in two schools in Quito (Escuela Ciudad de Cuenca and Escuela Francisco Javier Salazar). The workshops lasted four hours each and, over a course of three weeks, reached out to over 600 children between the age of 9 and 12.
- Researching and writing a summary paper on the conflict in Colombia and bilateral relations between Ecuador as background material for the Study Abroad Programme [in English]. This was subsequently published in the CEMPROC Working Paper Series. (<http://www.cemproc.org/KPoppCWPS.pdf>)
- Carrying out field research together with other CEMPROC staff to conduct surveys, interviews, and focus groups of Ecuadorians, Colombian migrants, and organizations involved in peacebuilding and humanitarian assistance in migrant-receiving areas
- Designing and co-teaching an English-language course for teachers at the American school in Quito on conflict transformation and social justice in the classroom.
- Assisting in workshops on conflict resolution for adults, held for the parent community at Escuela Francisco Javier Salazar.
- Identifying publicity, marketing, and media opportunities to increase the visibility of CEMPROC programs; pitched and secured radio and newspaper coverage of CEMPROC open-enrollment conflict resolution courses and public expert panel forums; accompanied senior leadership to media interviews and events, documenting with photos, video, audio, writing in order to disseminate to CEMPROC constituencies
- Designing and researching through focus groups a training on conflict resolution for migrant families; developed a manual to accompany the course
- Researching and coauthoring an article with CEMPROC director on governance networks in the border regions of Ecuador in a prestigious international professional magazine/journal: <http://www.fmreview.org/fragilestates/balyk-pugh>
- Writing an article on migrant conflict resolution and social justice for a major international professional magazine (http://www.acrnet.org/publications/ACResolution/Summer08Addendum/Two\_Faces\_of\_Migration\_ACRes7.4.pdf)
- Designing a module on migration to complement the course on conflict resolution for children, considering the high migration pressure in Ecuadorian society and the social and emotional strain that emigration and separation put on children and family relationships [in Spanish].
- Designing a module on migration to complement the adults' courses on conflict resolution; this included writing two simulations that could allow participants to practice conflict resolution skills in migration-related conflict.

- Networking with potential partner and client organizations, developing relationships and answering preliminary questions in order to set up a meeting with the organization leadership.
- Assisting in a range of organizational and logistical duties surrounding the International Conflict Resolution Study Abroad Program run by CEMPROC and the University of Georgia (USA) for a group of undergraduate students in Quito.
- Assisting with preparation, logistics, and implementation of the Visualizing Peace and Justice international study abroad program run by CEMPROC and Providence College on photography and global/local intersections of social justice issues
- Researching, travelling to conduct a needs assessment, and writing a grant proposal for a non-violent social change and community organizing workshop in an indigenous community
- Writing a project proposal for a possible collaboration between CEMPROC and international organizations on local governance and community building in Ecuador's northern provinces.
- Writing articles for the CEMPROC newsletter [in English and Spanish].
- Creating a database of schools in the Quito area and drafting letters to the schools offering CEMPROC conflict resolution courses for children.
